RICHARDS'S HAT-TRICK

Gordon Richards, the champion jockey, registered a hat-trick of winners at Epsom yesterday, on Sunny Palm in the Stewards' High-Weight Handicap, Danesford in the Caterham Stakes, and Windolite who dead-heat for the Epsom Handicap.

EASTON FINISHES IN FRONT OF COLOMBO

Winner's Time Equals Last Year's Record HYPERION TO-DAY

By BOUVERIE

ONCE again the Derby has gone to the East—whence Lord Zetland had told us to look for the winner. But it was the Maharajah of Rajpipla who took it there, and not Colombo. Luck in running was not on the side of the favourite, but I am not offering this as an excuse for his defeat. He was beaten by a great stayer in Windsor Lad and the Beckhampton "Frenchman" Easton. A length and a neck was the verdict, and the winner's time equalled the record made by Hyperion last year.

Colombo soon dispelled any idea that he was going to suffer from his temperament. Nothing was cooler or more sedate in the parade, and at the gate he stood like an old sheep. Indeed it was the best-behaved Derby field I have seen for many a long day. Only Umidwar gave the slightest trouble, and he was soon persuaded to line up with the others.

Fleetfoot Leads!

Everything still looked rosy for Colombo when he jumped off second to Medieval Knight—how many times has Donoghue made the running in the Derby?—and stayed there until they were nearly at the top of the hill. Then Colombo lost his place, and by the time they had gone half-way down the hill to the corner, there were quite half a dozen in front of him, with Fleetfoot, of all horses, in front.

Approaching the straight Johnstone decided that his best path would be to the outside, and having to pass "fading" horses Colombo went rather wide. Just for a moment, when they were well in a line for home, it looked as if he would overhaul the leaders, but Windsor Lad had too much in reserve.

Full Marks to Smirke

Still, enough of Colombo and full marks to Windsor Lad and his jockey, Charles Smirke, for what I heard described by a famous trainer as the best bit of Derby work he had ever seen. Smirke had always been a firm believer in Windsor Lad's ability to win, and no horse has ever been ridden with more confidence and thrust.

In the early stages Smirke played a sort of cat-and-mouse game to seize the position he wanted at the right time. Gradually moving up place after place, his great opportunity came soon after they had passed the corner. Tiberius had gone into the lead at this point, with Windsor Lad second. Smirke saw his chance to get the rails; a lightning dash put him in the coveted position and in the lead that was never again surrendered.

Stamina Tells

Tiberius, once passed by Windsor Lad, was no longer a danger, but another took his place when Easton came with a typical Richards flourish. Gordon was obviously remembering that he had never won a Derby, and here certainly looked the best chance he had ever had, but having got within a length of the winner some way out he could get no nearer. Stamina told, and it told against the French colt.

None of the Aga Khan's trio was ever really in the picture, and it was the "second best" that did best when Alishah finished fifth just behind Tiberius, who also carried his owners' second colours. Yet the Aga Khan appeared one of the happiest owners on the course when it was all over. He was the first to congratulate the Maharajah of Rajpipla, and the smile he gave Smirke could not have been broader had it come from a winner.

Hyperion.

In Felstead's Box

It was a wonderful triumph for Marcus Marsh, who is one of our youngest trainers and, of course, a son of the late Richard Marsh, who trained three Derby winners for King Edward. Early this year, when his horses were moved to Lambourn, Marsh asked particularly that Windsor Lad should have the box that stabled Felstead before his Derby triumph. He was given it—with happy results.

Windsor Lad cost 1,300 gns. as a yearling, and his victory is yet another reminder that a horse who has won over a mile and a half, can never be left out of the Derby. After Papyrus, Hyperion, and now Windsor Lad, we shall be looking more than ever to the Chester Vase as the best Epsom guide. And in view of Zelina's good fight against the winner a month ago, will Campanula be such a warm favourite for the Oaks as she looked like being after her One Thousand victory?

Another Derby Winner

From the Derby winner of the present we turn to the Derby winner of the past, for the star turn to-day, Hyperion, has been sent for the Coronation Cup, and what is there to beat him in a small field?

At Manton they regard Raymond as a much-improved horse, but although he will win good races it should not be this one. Mate, who will endeavour to emulate Reign Count by taking the race to America, is, I believe, expected to bustle up Hyperion, but on what we have seen of our little champion this season he is better than ever, and this should be all we want to know.

Montrose's Race

Montrose misses the Cup to go for the Durdans Handicap, and in a small field I regard him as the best thing of the day. Caymanas, with Donoghue up, is expected to run well, but little Flange, who won the corresponding race last year, may be at a disadvantage through not having had a race this season.

Zanoff has such a particular liking for Epsom that in spite of his rise in the handicap I am quite prepared to see him win the Royal Stakes. Unlikely and Polar Bear are his chief rivals, but neither of them will match the fiery speed of Zanoff, who bowls down the hill like a cricket ball. The Jesuit should win the Great Surrey Foal Plate, but there is going to be danger from Ashe, who comes from a stable in form.

STABLE NEWS

Hyperion Expected to Win the Coronation Cup

NEWMARKET, Wednesday. At the third stage of the Epsom meeting the programme is a real good one, but I am afraid the number of our runners will be few.

At the time of writing Hyperion is the only animal that has left to take part in the Coronation Cup.

Since winning the Burwell Stakes at Newmarket last month he could not have given more satisfaction, and I fully expect he will be returned the winner.

The Jesuit did not meet with the best of luck when second to Dispensation at Newmarket, and he is worthy of another chance in the Great Surrey Foal Plate.

With a useful pull in weight, Keep Off has a chance in the Royal Stakes. He has not met with success this season, but when known as the Grasmere colt was very consistent last year.

Flange, a winner over the course, should be followed in the Durdans Handicap.

HEATHMAN.

FROM OTHER QUARTERS

Weyhill.—Sarragossa (2.0) is fancied. Unlikely (4.25) is regarded as good.

Manton.—Raymond (3.15) should be placed.

Ogbourne.—Copine (2.0) is fancied win and place.

Beckhampton.—Golden Earl (2.35) is expected to win. Montrose should win the Durdans Handicap.

Lambourn.—Silkstar (2.35) is expected to be in the fighting. Chataleine (3.15) should be placed.

COLOMBO 6 TO 4 A PLACE

Remarkable Tote Odds Returned Against the Derby Favourite

A remarkable feature of the tote betting on the Derby yesterday was that Colombo paid 6 to 4 against for a place, a better dividend than either Windsor Lad (evens) or Easton (11 to 8).

Altogether the tote took £26,814 4s. on the race, this being just short of last year's total of £26,950 12s., which is a record for any individual race in this country.

The total amount taken by the tote on the day was £53,089 12s., this being £23,566 more than the £29,523 2s. taken on Derby Day last year.

LINDRUM'S TURN TO LEAD

Now 68 Points Ahead of McConachy in Three-Week Match

Walter Lindrum has taken the lead from Clark McConachy, says Reuter, in their three-week exhibition billiards match, which finishes at Brisbane on Saturday.

McConachy started 258 points ahead, but Lindrum had much the better of the day's play and finished 68 points in front. McConachy made the best break with 872, Lindrum's best being 513.

Scores:—Lindrum 22,478, McConachy 22,410.

CLEM HILL ON TOURISTS

Clem Hill, the famous old Australian Test player, in urging the inclusion of Hans Ebeling in the Australian team, says that the Tourists would be looking for trouble if only three regular bowlers were included.

He names the following team, says Reuter: W. M. Woodfull, W. H. Ponsford, D. G. Bradman, S. J. McCabe, L. S. Darling, A. G. Chipperfield, W. J. O'Reilly, C. V. Grimmitt, W. A. Oldfield, H. L. Ebeling and T. W. Wall. Twelfth man: E. H. Bromley.

NEW LONDON BATHS

The luxury swimming baths at Romford-road, West Ham, owned by the Corporation, will be opened with an important gala under the auspices of Plaistow United S.C., who will have their headquarters there.

Events include demonstrations by R. J. C. Sutton, Miss Valerie Davies and others.

NEWCASTLE F.C.'s LOSS

It is stated that Newcastle United F.C. will show a loss of a few thousand pounds on the season, the transfers accounting largely for the deficit.
