LATE STABLE NEWS

NEWMARKET, Wednesday.
 At Liverpool to-morrow the Lancashire Breeders' Produce Stakes is the chief event, and our chance of winning it is a very good one.

Since dead-heating with Willowmead at Windsor Sans Lumiere could not have given more satisfaction.

I believe that Cortina will finish in front of Annabel again. Both these fillies are wonderfully well.

White Clover will represent Lord Derby, and she will require a lot of beating. The best has not been seen of this filly in public. However, I give preference to Sans Lumiere.

Bondsman, a stable companion of Sans Lumiere, should win the Knowsley Dinner Stakes. Bondsman has yet to open his winning account, but has done well at home since being beaten by Badruddin at Ascot.

Plain Anne has not met with success since winning a nursery at Windsor last November. She is nicely weighted in the Hill House Selling Handicap.

FROM OTHER QUARTERS

Manton.—Sir Caldore (3.30) should finish in the first three.

Lambourn.—Apron Boy, an easy winner at Bath, is fancied for the Abbystead Plate (3.0). Other horses engaged here are doubtful runners.

Weyhill.—Aquila (2.30), Sir Galadale (3.0), and Diagram (4.30) are under orders for Liverpool.

LIVERPOOL RESULTS

ROSEMARY'S PET JUST HOME AT AINTREE

Fairhaven Scores a Popular Win ADEPT'S FIRST

By BOUVERIE

ROSEMARY'S PET, second last year to Gold Bridge, went one better yesterday in winning the Molyneux Cup after a race that provided all the thrills one expects from sprinters of the top class. Figaro was second, but so close was the finish that we were left guessing which had won until the judge signalled a short-head victory for Carslake's mount.

Figaro started at a much better price than might have been anticipated, chiefly because of the faith in Richards to induce Flying Coot to put her best foot forward all the way. But it was not one of the filly's good days, and she lost her place before half the distance had been covered. Valkyrie kept Morstone out of third place without threatening real danger to the first two in the closing stages.

Goodwood Next

Figaro will now, no doubt, attempt to find consolation in the Stewards' Cup next week, and as almost a winner without a penalty his bright prospects are obvious. Still, it has to be pointed out that although Goodwood is an easy course, five furlongs suits Figaro better than six, and more than many others in the field his chance will be influenced very largely by the state of the going—and the draw.

A year ago Old Riley came out the same horse as Rosemary's Pet at Liverpool, and yesterday's form shows Mr. Joel's horse to be 4lb. better than Figaro. At Goodwood next week Old Riley has to give Figaro only 1lb., and with the Ascot proof that Old Riley is touching his best form again, it looks as if it must be a near thing between them next week.

Easy Money

Adept found the winning post for the first time in the St. George Stakes, which proved a lame affair for such a nice prize. Until Richards got tired of ambling behind Osman Pasha on Democrat the three horses went along at a crawl. When Democrat went on so did Adept, and going to the front halfway up the straight Lord Astor's colt easily held off a final effort by Osman Pasha.

Lord Derby's colours found Dame Fortune in a more benign mood than she has been for some time, and a welcome and popular double was scored by Fairhaven and Bunker. Phlox was heavily backed to beat the former in the Mersey Stakes, but it was not Richards's lucky day and he finished among the also rans. Bunker's victory gave Weston his third success, as he also scored on Dennisore, who ran instead of Integrity in the Grassmere Plate.

Better Late

Roseate's victory in the Church House Handicap reminded me that he was also a winner here on Forbra's National day—to the great joy of a friend who won £282 with a 10s. ticket in the tote double. Roseate did not win another race in eleven subsequent attempts that year. Last season he failed nine times, and as he had been unplaced on five occasions this year he was certainly not winning out of his turn.

Canaletto, for whom much bigger things were anticipated in his younger days, started favourite, but even in this moderate company

Last year's Derby winner, Hyperion, who has run his last race.

The grey Strathcarron in a good gallop with a stable companion at Epsom yesterday. The horse is a probable for the Stewards' Cup at Goodwood next week.

BEST FROM THE BOOK

In the School House Maiden Selling Plate, DIAGONAL

has a good chance. He was fourth in a big field at Newmarket, and has other fair form to his credit. PAGE BOX.

he could only finish second. S. Middleton, who had won an apprentices' race on Witticism at Newmarket, was given the mount again, and although unplaced the experience gained by riding against seasoned jockeys is not likely to be lost on the youngster. It would be a good thing for racing if more trainers copied Captain Whitaker's example.

Ascot Pointer

If the Ascot form of Cortina is to be relied upon, the winner of the Lancashire Breeders' Produce Stakes to-day will not be difficult to find. Mr. Anthony de Rothschild's filly was a good third to Carretta and Red Biddy in the Queen Mary Stakes, and among those behind her was Annabel, who is at the further disadvantage to-day of having to concede 3lb.

Still we know what has happened to many Ascot "form horses," and although I cannot find one I like better I do not regard Cortina as a good thing. The cosier course will undoubtedly be in favour of Annabel, and apparently there is considerable faith behind Sans Lumiere.

Apron Boy Again?

The Scribe was an easy winner at the Spring meeting, and if he stays he is quite likely to take advantage of a favourable handicap mark in the Abbystead Plate. It is a long journey, however, for a three-year-old, and with the Bath evidence that Apron Boy is in form it may be as well to follow Sir F. Ely's horse. Annihilation is in reserve for Hurst Park.

Another recent winner with a big chance is Shell of Gold, but apparently she does not run for the Windermere Handicap. As Tetrapod and Fugit will also be absent it looks as if Summary, who won easily at the Spring meeting, is left with a capital chance. Monk Vendor and Spirax look the pick of the others, and the latter may be placed.

IRISH OAKS TO-DAY

There will be only five runners for the Irish Oaks at the Curragh this afternoon, and it looks almost a certainty that this rich prize will be won by one of the cross-Channel challengers, either Foxcroft or Quay Hill.

I have a strong preference for the former, who will be ridden by Joe Childs. I expect Tricot to make the best showing of the Irish-trained contingent. Selections:—

2.30, Toga; 3.0, Fur Coat; 3.30, Foxcroft; 4.0, Mrs. Masham; 4.30, Ballyrobert; 5.0, Superstitious. SIR TIMOTHY.
