PLACE HONOURS MAY FALL TO CAYMANAS

Wychwood Abbot Now First Favourite HIS RIDER IN FORM

By BOUVERIE
 THERE has surely never been an English handicap of wider international interest than to-day's Cambridgeshire. France, America and far off Brazil are all directly represented; so to a large extent is the rest of the world with tickets in the Irish Sweep. In all quarters of the globe no racing result has been awaited with such interest since Windsor Lad went out to win the Derby.

To-day, however, there can be no result to equal the jar felt by the Colombettes back in June. The range of weights gives every one of the thirty-seven runners a more or less equal chance. Although the draw for places at the start can have a further big influence, those who have never been to Newmarket may wonder why this should be so on a wide straight course. The answer is the hill at the finish is much more severe on the far side than it is under the stands. A place among the high numbers at the gate is almost fatal.

Draw and Betting
 So in effect two chances have to be taken when backing a horse before the numbers go up. One day perhaps we shall have the draw for these events on the eve of the race, though I am not at all sure that such an innovation would be wholly popular. After all, the races that attract most interest are those in which the glorious uncertainty plays the bigger part.

Mary Tudor II will be a good favourite to-day if she is well drawn. If Donoghue has a high number it is a toss-up what will be favourite. Such is the faith in Caymanas, Wychwood Abbot, Solfatara, Flamenco and Spend a Penny. Any one of these might eventually head the betting if favoured by the draw, and any one of them may win. At the final call-over last night Wychwood Abbot was favourite.

The Four Best

Summing-up, the four I like best are Flamenco, Caymanas, Wychwood Abbot, and Solfatara. Sorting them out before the draw, Solfatara and Caymanas go first, because horses of their age usually find a three-year-old to beat them in this particular race. I must say I am loth to part with Caymanas, and there is nothing I like better as one for a place.

Between Wychwood Abbot and Flamenco it is most difficult to choose before the draw. On most lines of form Wychwood Abbot is the best handicapped horse in the race. Against that he has a preference for running his race in his own particular fashion. It is possible for a jockey to humour his mount in small fields, but the doubt is whether Perryman will be able to do so to-day in a race where they are always on the stretch from start to finish.

In the circumstances I am relying on Flamenco in the hope that Harry Wragg is one of the lucky ones in the draw for places. Lord Rosebery's colt fits all the requirements for this particular race. He is in close touch with the representatives of the best classic form of the year, and that is the sort never to be left alone in a Cambridgeshire.

Faith in Flamenco

Spend a Penny, Badruddin, Mate and other French representatives besides Mary Tudor II, will keep the bookmakers and the tote busy in the forty-five minutes before the race; and it will be no surprise if any of them wins, but only three numbers can go into the frame, and I hope that that of Flamenco will be on top with that of Caymanas one of the others.

Even in a moderate sized field the effect of the draw was seen in the Fordham Welter yesterday. Going into the dip The Old Pretender was as well placed as anything, but the rising ground put the break on, and Shalfleet, well on his left, stayed on to beat the top weight, Strathcarron, by a head. The latter must have surprised Bobby Jones and the starter by his excellent behaviour at the gate, to which he usually shows such a hearty dislike.

Red Horizon's all-conquering career was checked in the Rutland Handicap. He had his chance at the Bushes, but it was soon gone when Amoretto and Winsome Prince drew away to fight out a great finish. For a few strides it looked as if Winsome Prince would win easily, but Amoretto stuck gamely to his job and only the judge could say which had won when they reached the post.

The Aga Khan's wonderful two-year-old sequence was continued in the Critteron Stakes, when Shahali added another to his Kempton

Flamenco, which is expected by Bouverie to win the Cambridgeshire.

BIG RACE PRICES

At the final call-over on the Cambridgeshire last night the prices were:—

9-1 Wychwood Abbot	45-1 Celestial-City
100-8 Mary Tudor II	45-1 Grand Rounds
100-8 Spend a Penny	45-1 The Blue Boy
100-7 Caymanas	45-1 British Quota
18-1 Flamenco	50-1 Buckland
20-1 Badruddin	50-1 Lilium II
22-1 Bondsman	50-1 Adriatic
22-1 Solfatara	50-1 Eleada
22-1 Highlander	60-1 Young Native
33-1 Poker	60-1 Denbigh
35-1 Statesman	66-1 Galapas
35-1 Mate	66-1 Tabasco IV
35-1 Light Sussex	66-1 Celadon
40-1 Spirituelle II	66-1 Grindleton
40-1 Commander III	66-1 Hot Sun
40-1 Almond Hill	80-1 Akela
45-1 Rentenmark	80-1 Loto
45-1 Mir, Tor	100-1 Mossoro

Newmarket Course Betting.—3,000-270 Wychwood Abbot, 2,000-140 Caymanas, 1,250-50 Badruddin, 1,000-30 Spirituelle II, 1,000-30 Poker—all taken.

triumph. For quite a long time he seemed to look like having a big job to shake off Fresh Fox, and it was not until they met the final rise that his longer stride turned the scales. Apollo also did his best work up the final hill, and there may still be time for him to win a nice race before the close of the season.

After Shahali, Perryman proceeded to win the Old Nursery on the outsider, Social Error, and to complete the hat-trick on Master Vere in a match with Caracol for the Limekiln Stakes. It was touch-and-go whether Social Error would catch Berrymaid in the nursery, but Masier Vere had settled his solitary rival a long way out. What a pity this gallant chap had to be on the shelf all the summer.

NEWMARKET'S BEST

NEWMARKET, Tuesday.
 On Saturday I witnessed every gallop of our Cambridgeshire candidates, and most remarkable, every one gave the utmost satisfaction. In a most open race for the winner I take Wychwood Abbot, with Spend a Penny the danger.

FROM OTHER QUARTERS
 Middleham.—Adriatic is well fancied each way for the Cambridgeshire. Auld Reckie (3.45) should run well.
 Manton.—Harem (2.0) and Cecil (4.15) are regarded good. Miss Tor may finish in the front rank in the Cambridgeshire.
 Weyhill.—Makila (2.0) is fancied each way.
 Ogbourne.—Our runners are: Celestial City (may finish in the first three, 3.15), Applian Way (regarded good, 3.45), Maccaboy (fancied, 2.30) and The Blue Boy (3.15).
 Lambourn.—Milreis (2.30) and Princess Hermia (3.45) are fancied each way.
